EDITORIAL

Dear Editors,
We, the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority and the Zeta Tau Alpha Society, are extremely angry and perplexed over the recent evaluation we have been given by the Housing Administration concerning our Special Interest Housing. The Housing Administration has strongly recommended that we be denied Special Interest Housing because we are not meeting their goals and gaining benefits from the program that we should be. We strongly disagree.

First, let us briefly define what special interest housing is. It is a program designed for organizations who want to have specialized living in the residence halls to help them direct their own growth and development. There is a whole packet of program information and application procedures for Special Interest Housing so it is not quite this simple. However, we meet the criteria for eligibility as a special interest unit, we have support from our faculty advisors, and we have already met the six guidelines in proposals to the Special Interest Housing Committee. As to the goals of Special Interest Housing, they are not stated in this packet so how can we not be meeting them. Furthermore, as national sororities under a charter we have our own academic requirements we must meet and goals we must attain in order to maintain our national status. Presently, the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority has special interest housing in cluster 1B in Chesapeake and Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority in clusters 1F and 2F in Chesapeake.

Sororities Angry

We feel that these clusters have become vital to the health of our organizations. We see them as the heart of the group and the center where all activity and ideas generate from. It has offered us the opportunity to become closer and stronger as organizations as we have a place of permanence which creates a greater sense of loyalty to the group. Therefore, we do not plan on losing our housing without a fight. We expect the administration to show us more support as we are an integral part of the college and have shown our loyalty and support to the college through our various campus activities and in worthwhile community service projects. Presently, we are participating in the SSC Alumnae Phonathon for the Foundation and have raised over $5000. Needless to say, this is our third year in participating in this endeavor and every year we have won first, second or third place. It is suffice to say that we are infuriated with this recent development and we would like the administration and the student body to become aware of the situation as our campaign to retain our rights to special interest housing have just begun so stay tuned!!

Bombing of Libya

Dear Readers,

Pacifist groups across the world are displaying their lack of support for President Reagan and the United States' bombing of Libya.

In Britain for example, anti-U.S. demonstrations took place in which middle aged Britons burned the American flag. The burning of a national symbol is a disgraceful display of ignorance uncharacteristic of the British. Such behavior from one of our staunchest allies is both surprising and shameful, and those who participated ought to be ashamed of their actions.

In Italy, hundreds of women marched through the streets in protest of Reagan's "terrorist" actions. Italy is among the countries hit hardest by terrorism, and the people are complaining about us striking back! Some nerve!

During the initial attack, the French government refused to allow our combat aircraft in their aerospace. This is strange treatment from a country whom we helped to liberate during World War 2. At that time, the French were overjoyed to see U.S. troops. Times change, I suppose. It is also interesting that if Russia stormed across Europe tomorrow, France would undoubtedly be begging for help.

Yet another horrible event in this ongoing controversy is the case of an Irish woman. Her boyfriend, a Libyan, planted a bomb in her suitcase. This alone is bad enough, but add the fact that the woman was pregnant with the Libyan's child! What kind of weirdos are we up against?

Here at home, some people are also protesting. I think our government knows what they're doing (that's why they're where they are and we aren't), and if people can't support their judgement they should leave. There are enough anti-American feelings abroad without our own people not standing behind our president.

As this editorial was being prepared, news came to light that Britain, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Luxemborg have expelled most of the Libyan diplomats and are in the process of putting sanctions on the Libyans. Better late than never, but we still have to continue protecting our interests overseas and preventing terrorists from pushing us around and harming our citizens. Hopefully, this won't result in full-scale military action, but if it does, it will be warranted.

Thank You,
Wayne Ackerson

Administrators That Care

By: Dana Alexander

In the first spring semester issue of the Flyer, an article entitled, "No Bushes on the Berms" was written. The article told of how Chesapeake residents were getting together and asking the administration not to plant bushes on the hills, or berms, in front of Chesapeake Hall. This is part two of that article.

On Thursday, April 10th, there was a meeting with Barry King, Director of Residence Life, concerning the administration's plans to put bushes on the hills of Chesapeake. The resident attendance to that meeting was overwhelming and the students readily voiced their concerns. Barry King brought up these administration issues:

1. Not only would there be bushes planted on the hills, but also evergreen, pine, and maple trees of approximately 10 to 15 feet in height.

2. Due to time limitations, residents of Chesapeake I, as well as some administration staff members, were not consulted on the proposed plans.

3. The administration suggested that the soccer field be used as Chesapeake's recreation area.

4. The reason for the landscaping plans is that the plants would be esthetically pleasing. The colored plants (i.e., azaleas, flowering dogwoods, etc.) would break up the brick sterility of the two halls.

The residents addressed Barry King with these issues:

1. The 10 to 15 feet high trees would block out the limited amount of sun that the first floor residents already receive.

2. These trees (and the shadows they give off) could possibly be a security risk to the residents of Chesapeake I and II.

3. There is already a limited amount of recreation space for Chesapeake; residents expressed their desire to keep the already limited amount.

4. Concerning the soccer field, it is often in use by the soccer and rugby teams. When not used by these teams, the sprinklers are sometimes turned on. Also, the lack of privacy due to the busy roads that line the field was expressed. Sunbathers did not wish to be so close to the road and the vehicles.

5. Insects have been a problem to residents and concerned parties wondered if the trees and bushes would bring about more insect and rodent problems.

6. Finally, residents voiced their willingness to compromise on the landscaping plans. To have an esthetically pleasing atmosphere would be great for everyone, but what the administration has planned is a case of "overkill." too many plants would wipe out the recreation space that Chesapeake has.

During the meeting, Mr. King suggested that a few people work as representatives for the hall. When the meeting had ended, five representatives were chosen: Patricia Payne, Sharon Sanders, Kim Legates, Shane Beard, and Dana Alexander.

The next step was to have a meeting with Carol Williamson, Dean of Students. The meeting was set up and it took place on Wednesday, April 16th.

Carol Williamson, Patty Payne, Shane Beard, Kim Legates, Dana Alexander and Mike Condon, a representative of the Student Senate, met in the Debate Room of Holloway Hall and discussed the plans for bushes, and now trees. The meeting began with introducing and then, it got right to the topic — bushes and trees on the hills of Chesapeake.

Everyone discussed the points of view of the residents and administration. Carol Williamson is quoted as saying, "The artist's picture (of the proposed hills and courtyard between the halls) isn't in perspective." The space between the halls is much smaller than in the artist's depiction, which is in Chesapeake's office. Ms. Williamson also said that the bushes and trees are, "too much. It has a greenhouse effect."

At the conclusion of the meeting, everyone readily agreed to compromise. "We don't have to be locked into that plan at all. My first preference is to put a hold on it. I don't think we should do anything at this point in time," stated Ms. Williamson.

It was decided that the residents of Chesapeake Hill, through their representatives, would work with the landscapers to determine how the hills and courtyard will look. Once Chesapeake II is built, then the landscaping ideas will be put into work. If the dormitory is finished before the Fall Semester 1986, the representatives will come and contribute ideas to the landscape. Carol Williamson promised to put this in writing.

"This is sort of a scaled-down version," commented Ackerson. "I've always wanted to do something like this, and now I've got the chance."

Ackerson also credits his high school coach, Kevin Jenkins, with a lot.

"Mr. Jenkins kept me interested in running even when I wanted to quit. He was there if any of us needed anything."

The Humane Society is pleased with the prospects of this event. "It could be big, really big, if we get the support of the public."

62 Mile Run

Salisbury State sophomore and Waldorf, Md. native Wayne Ackerson embarks May 30 for a three day trek on foot that will carry him 62 miles.

The psychology-history major will put his running ability to work May 30, 31 and June 1 in a 62 mile run to benefit the Charles County Humane Society. Wayne is a former track and cross country runner at Thomas Stone High School.

The solo run will begin in St. Mary's City and end in Waldorf at the Charles County Humane Society headquarters. The inspiration behind the run came from the Terry Fox story. Terry Fox lost a leg due to cancer and attempted to run across Canada. He succumbed to the disease before he could finish, however.

Wayne will be marking the spot where he stops at the end of the day and, after spending the night at home, will pick up there the next day. He will be aided by a support vehicle which will provide drinks and other help along the way. Several of his friends here at SSC have volunteered to be drivers.

"To be frank, I can't do it without them," Wayne says. "They will hold everything from extra shoes to spare clothes, so they are the vital link, so to speak."

Donations can be mailed to the Humane Society of Charles County, Industrial Park Circle, Waldorf, MD 20601.

The Humane Society needs the help. So animal lovers, this is your big chance to lend a much-appreciated hand."

The Salisbury State sports teams have had mixed seasons, to say the least. Baseball has struggled, while Tennis and Women's Lacrosse have risen to their respective challenges better than expected.

On the tennis courts, the Salisbury State Men's Tennis team currently has a 15-5 record, and head coach Dean Burroughs would like to win 20 matches for only the second time in a row. "I was not too optimistic at first about winning 20 matches for the second time ever (the first time was last year), but we have a very good chance this year," commented Burroughs.

Since the first match, a 5-4 defeat of Virginia Wesleyan, the team has improved incredibly. This period has also seen Ray Still, the top player, pile up an 18-4 record. Last year, Still became the only player to ever win 21 matches at the number one singles position. Still will almost certainly qualify for Nationals, and he has only one loss against a Division 3 school.

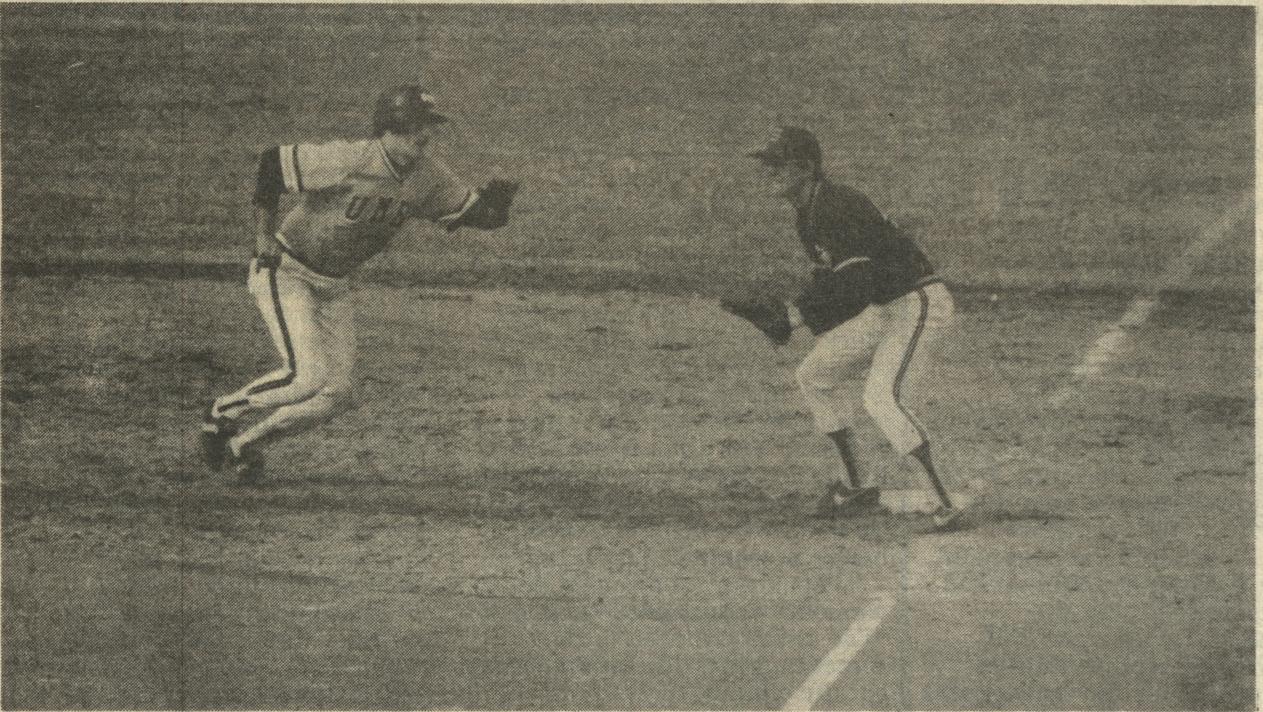

Seeded number two is sophomore Mark Buzzell. Currently 15-1, Buzzell strung together a streak of 19 consecutive wins, an amazing mark. It is quite likely he will also go to Nationals. Resting at number three singles is Peter Hall, who teams with Still as the number one doubles team. Hall and Still are 15-2, while Hall is 16-4 on his recently, which was a nice accomplishment for the team this year.

Also of special note is the fact that head coach Burroughs won his 200th career match as coach, and should be complimented on this feat.

The only problem Burroughs saw with his team this season was a slight lack of depth. Burroughs reflected, "We didn't have the depth I would have liked...we had a nucleus of eight players, but there was a division between the top three and the rest of the guys..." This hasn't seemed to hamper them much, however, as the season winds to a close.

The Gulls Baseball season may have winded down a little too soon, like in March. After a 5-2-1 start, the Gulls set out to drop 10 out of their next 13 games in an unfortunate turnabout. Coach Dean Deshon says the record (9-24-1) and the season can be looked at in two different ways. "It can be looked at two ways," Deshon started. "You can look at the wins-losses column, and the season is a total disaster. You can also look at the effort our kids gave. They had to give a lot in all our contests. Realistically," Deshon continues, "we were lacking in talent both physically and mentally to pull off the season." Cited as other problems were not taking advantage of opportunities and sporadic own. Number four is Peter Meeks, a sophomore with an 8-4 record, while John Cuevo at number five holds a 9-11 mark. Cuevo's record is misleading, however; John played some tough matches at higher spots, and picked up some impressive wins along the way. Freshman John Trimp is dominant at number six singles, being 14-3. Trimp was a plus for the team since he was almost a given in terms of winning his spot. Also seeing action have been Scott Robertson (11-8) and captain Jim Dixon (5-3), who is described by Burroughs as a "real team leader..."

Rounding out the team and seeing some limited action are Roger Flynn, Kevin Cassidy, and David Anderson. These are all younger players who will see much more action next season.

The Tennis Team captured the Eastern States Athletic Conference Tournament

pitching, defense, and hitting. Without the consistency, the Gulls struggled.

Deshon says that overall, the team lacked the "higher skills" needed to take games. He added, however, that although the talent might not have been there, the team put in what they had. Deshon also cited inexperience as a concern; he had to rely on some guys who were younger and may not have been ready, and some guys he would have counted on did not come out. This left the program soft in terms of potential talent.

On the basepaths, the Gulls were consistent, however, stealing 72 of 89 bases thus far. Rob Lippy has stolen nine, as has Allen Cook, while Chris McDonald and George Oursler have stolen 11 and 10 respectively. Deshon feels this is a very good percentage. Stopping baserunners has been catcher Steve Greenwood's forte this spring. Greenwood has thrown out close to 90% of potential basestealers.

At the plate, Bruce Matthews paces the team with his .377 batting average, with Cook (.362) and Lippy (.314) close behind. Lippy also leads the Gulls team in RBI's and walks.

On the mound, Ted Peters has been pitching well, as have Leo Kelm, Erich Hahn, and C.R. Murphy, although none have a winning record and whose performance is not reflected in their stats. Lance Fisher records the team's only save as well as the lowest ERA (4.94). Others who have seen action are Chris Manouse (1-0), Craig Shreeves, Kevin Smith, and Tim Walsh.

The Gulls play this Saturday, May 3 at Frostburg to round out their season.

Things are going much better for Coach Karen Weaver's women's Lacrosse team. Currently 8-2, the lady Gulls are ranked nationally at number 11. Coach Weaver had only good things to say about her pledges. "We've had an amazing season. With the combined talent of our seniors and the abilities of the younger players, the team has a dynamic attitude. They care for each other and really want to play."

Despite a 2-9-1 record last year, Weaver says she started out optimistically. With a good mix of returnees such as Lisa Thomas and Claudia Hession, both seniors, and newer talent such as Linda Lombardi and Barbara Butler, Weaver felt she could schedule some tougher teams, which she did, including Division Two powerhouse U.M.B.C.

"The girls handled my ambitious scheduling well," commented Weaver.

Of particular note this spring was freshman attacker Linda Lombardi. In her first year, Lombardi has scored over 30 goals to lead the team and is already on S.S.C.'s All-time scoring list! Tracy Hoover, who has done a "great job" at goalkeeper in her first varsity year, is a junior. Last year's starting goalie, Terri Buysee, has made an impressive move out of the goal to midfield, where she operates as the first sub off the bench. Buysee has turned out to be a fine defensive player. Junior center Stacy Stem is described by Weaver as the "key link for the team" and has many assists and has been playing well. She was an All-region selection last season.

Besides these players, Weaver was pleased with the performance of the rest of the team as well: Nikki Dorn, Sheila Conley, Patti Schegel, Darnell Ambrose, Sue Siok, Brenda Bowlin, Mary Adams, Laurie King, Yetive Routt, Ava Hartman, Jenny Alexander, Karen Kzymanski, Kim Marlatt, Dora Scalco, Susan Seling, and Shari Foster. Congratulations on a truly impressive season!

Overall, the sports did quite well, despite the individual problems. Next time we'll look at Men's Lacrosse, Track, and the Softball team, as well as have some special features.

An extra note of congratulations goes out to Diana DeJesus. She was named the Small College Woman player of the year by the Albert J. Carino Basketball Club of New Jersey. Diana set school records in career assists, game assists, and season assists. A truly exceptional player, Diana was certainly qualified for such an honor. Congratulations, and good luck in your future as you depart Salisbury, Diana!

After the degrees are conferred the tassel is shifted to the left side. The signal for shifting the tassel will be given by the President and Vice-President for Academic Affairs when they touch their mortarboards.

3. Candidates for the master's degree should place the tassel at the front of the mortarboard prior to entering the auditorium and should not shift it.

4. Master's degree candidates will wear the robe, but will carry the hood over the left arm until they reach the stage, where it will be placed on the candidate.

"Hansel and Gretel"

An original adaptation of the children's fairy tale, "Hansel and Gretel," plays in the Newtowne Theatre on the Downtown Plaza at noon on Saturday, May 3, as part of the Salisbury Festival.

Adapted and performed by Salisbury State College students under the direction of Kristine Lococo, a Communications Arts major from Ocean Pines, they have brought their play and theatre workshop to schools in Dorchester, Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset Counties this spring.

The children's production, with talking trees, colorful costumes, a witch that is more funny than frightening and pop songs like "Mr. Sandman," emphasizes the humorous and light aspects of the Grimm Brothers tale.

"Hansel and Gretel" also will play a special matinee on Sunday, May 4, at 11 a.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium on the College campus. Tickets for that performance are $1.50, the money being used to help offset production and touring costs. For more information, call 543-6233.

Robin Lyn Wesley, 18, a freshman, has appeared in both "Antigone" and "Cabaret" this season at the College. She has a featured role in the upcoming Sophanes Players production of "The Spiral Staircase" and is the mother in "Hansel and Gretel."

And David Cherry, 18, also a freshman, plays Hansel. He made his SSC debut in the chorus of "Cabaret." He as appeared in musicals and comedies with the Masque Dinner Theatre and the Salisbury Community Players.

The Salisbury State College Collegium performs its debut concert on Wednesday night, April 30, at 8:00 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium. The Collegium, under the direction of Dr. Nancy Cooper, is a select group of 10 singers, who perform music written prior to 1750.

The program includes music dating from the medieval period to the late Renaissance, and features the works of English, German, French and Italian composers. The majority of the program is presented a cappella (unaccompanied) with some of the works accompanied by harpsichord.

Also featured in the concert is Music for Brass Choir. This six person group is directed by Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the SSC Music Department. One of its featured works is Henry Purcell's "Funeral Music for Queen Mary II," a multi-movement piece including a section for vocal ensemble.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude for relinquishing the use of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall on Saturday, April 19, in order for us to make preparations for the Salisbury State College Foundation Gala that evening, an annual fund-raising event which benefits all phases of college life. The affair was a fabulous success and I genuinely appreciate your cooperation.

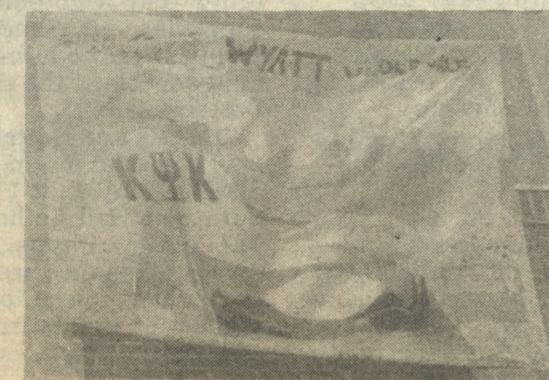

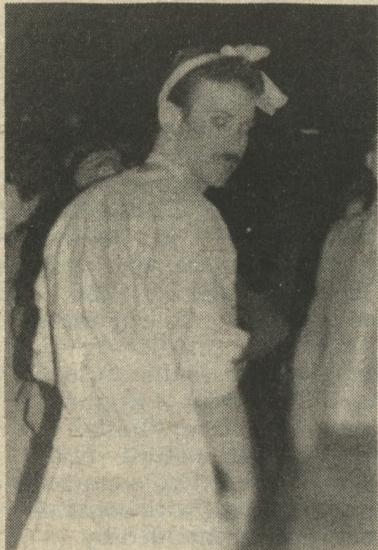

Again, my sincere thanks.

The Final Frame

The Salisbury State College Bowling team finished its bowling season on an upnote. Even though its the teams 1st full year in competition they have already become one of the top teams on the East Coast. After finishing second in a field of 24 teams in the Conference tournament, Salisbury went on to place second again in the 6th annual Shippensburg tournament. Despite a slow start in the Shippensburg tournament SSC moved through the pack to finish behind only Bloomsburg in the field of 18 teams. With 2 second place finishes in these large tournaments SSC achieved an invitation to the regional playoffs which included the best teams in the East. Among the field were 4 of the nations to 20 ranked teams. The winner of the regionals was Penn State University who will now travel to Las Vegas for the National Tournament. SSC finished 10th in their last competition of the year SSC held one distinct honor in that regional competition — they were the first team from Maryland to make the regional playoff in 8 years since 1978 when the University of Maryland made the playoffs and strangely enough they also finished 10th.

Salisbury is now the No. 1 ranked team in Maryland according to the most recent conference rankings.

SSC Rugby

By: Rick Schraf

It has been several weeks since rugby news has been covered in the Flyer, and I'm sure that our readers are just dying to find out how SSC Rugby Club's season has been going. Simply stated, the season has been going quite well. As I write this article, the ruggers are 6-1, having outscored opponents 134-43. The only loss came from a hard fought match against George Mason. The spring 1986 version of SSC Rugby is experienced and hard hitting. Also, there is plenty of depth with a well rounded B side squad.

The Gulls travel to Mount St. Mary's on April 26 for the annual Mount Cup. The Gulls hope to win that tournament and repeat the performance of the 1985 ruggers in the Mount Cup. Following that, the SSC rugby squad takes on the University of Maryland, then travels to Baltimore for the Preakness tournament, and then concludes the season with a match against Rock City. With the baseball season coming to an end, the rugby club anxiously awaits the return of Ted "Ramrod" Peters. His presence on the field will be greatly enjoyed by all his teammates, as well as feared by all opponents.
